Austria Sounds Great at the Reeperbahn Festival 2012

Austria sounds great! It truly does and it is about time to show the world that there is more to Austrian homegrown music than Mozart and Strauss. Another festival, another chance to showcase new developments of the Austrian music scene. This year's edition of the prestigious Reeperbahn Festival in Hamburg, taking place from the 20th - 22nd of September, will feature the four Austrian artists Sweet Sweet Moon, My Name Is Music, Gerard and Garish to do the honors of representing the current pop/rock/indie scene to the German and international music industry...

Waves Vienna Music Conference

Following the successful launch in 2011, the club and showcase festival Waves Vienna will enter its second round from the 4th - 7th of October. As in the past year, an important part of the festival is the conference which will take on the 4th and 5th of October. The specialist programme, which is meant to be the basis and inspiration for a long-term, pan-European cooperation, addresses current issues in the music industry as well as the key subject of Eastern and Western European exchange. As a special offer, mica - music austria is offering a remarkable discount on festival and conference tickets - the Waves Vienna 2012 Music Pro Pass will be available for € 75 instead of € 125 at the following link (Code: WAVES12_MICA_881):

Featured at Moving Sounds: Clemens Gadenstätter

Our sonic environment is characterized by sounds that serve a communicative or deictic purpose. An alarm clock ringing indicates it is time to get up; sounds often accompany the pushing of keys and buttons on a given device to make it easier to use; sirens draw attention to dangers and make us alert. All these sounds give directions in everyday life, but are not associated with music in their usual context...
